Cut Tuohy Sentence

Commuted to 72 Years by Gov. Stratton

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.P.)—Gov. William G. Stratton today commuted the 99-year kidnap sentence of Roger (The Terrible) Touhy to 72 years and thus cleared the way for release of the ex-Chicago bootlegger and gangster from prison in August, 1959.

Under the commutation, Touhy, who has served 24 years in prison, will be eligible for parole on the 99-year kidnap term in February, 1958.

If that parole is granted he then will be required to serve a six-month "institutional parole" in prison, then to start serving the three-years remaining on a 199-year prison escape sentence.

Touhy would be eligible for parole on the prison escape sentence in August, 1959, after serving a minimum of one third of it.

Stratton last July 31 commuted the 199-year sentence to three years.

In commuting the kidnap term today Stratton said "the pardon board reports that Roger Touhy has made a good adjustment and that no protest has been voiced by the trial judge, state's attorney, or complaining witnesses" in either the kidnap or prison escape cases.

Stratton said "The sentence in this case, in comparison with the sentences of other incarcerated offenders who are serving terms for premeditated cold blooded murder, seems extremely harsh and out of proportion."

The son of a Chicago policeman, Touhy now 59, was reported as one time during prohibition to be making as high as $60,000 a week from illegal beer traffic in his domain on Chicago's Northwest Side.

All this came to an end in 1933 when Touhy was convicted of kidnapping John (Jake The Barber) Factor, an international confidence man, and sent to prison for 99 years.

In 1942 Touhy broke out of prison with several other convicts. When he was recaptured, he was given the additional 199 years—to run consecutively.

U.S. and Canada Give Locations Of 21 Airstrips

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The United States and Canada have come close to pinpointing for all to know the locations of many of the secret radar stations providing warning of possible attack across the top of the world.

U. S. defense official said how ever the net result will be more, rather than less, security for the two countries.

The two governments have just made public the names and exact locations of 21 main airstrips serving the radar sites comprising the distant early warning (DEW) line across the top of North America.

The air strips were identified when the two governments established a new polar air defense zone through which no airplane may fly without following a prescribed flight plan and without being positively identified.

The new zone runs roughly along a band marked by the 68th and 70th parallels of latitude.

Similar identification zones run across the United States—Canadian border, up and down the continent's coast and around Alaska.

Airplanes flying through the zones must file advance flight plans. They need the en route navigation facilities and radio communications of the zones to establish their courses.

The DEW line landing strips were identified so flyers will know where radio beacons are located and have access to emergency landing strips if needed.

George Fletcher of Eldorado, also named in a bench warrant for failure to appear, apparently has left this area, officers stated.

Call Special Election To Fill City Council Vacancy

Stratton Hits GOP Consulting With Stevenson

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Gov. Stratton takes a dim view of President Eisenhower's action in naming Democratic former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson as a consultant on the forth coming NATO talks.

Stratton told a meeting of Sangamon County Republicans Tuesday night that "The country would be better off with a Republican controlled Congress than having a former Democratic governor of this state putting around down there."

Except for this indirect criticism of the President, Stratton devoted a large part of his speech to praise of Eisenhower along with a blast at Democratic criticism of the administration missile program.

He said, "The Trumans, the Stevensons, the Rayburns, the Johnsons are very busy today criticizing, but let us remember that the foremost expert on missile development in the nation, Dr. Werner von Braun, stated flatly that the reason for our lag in missile development is that the United States had no ballistic missile program worth mentioning between 1945 and 1951."

"I don't need to remind you," Stratton said, "who was President and what party controlled during those crucial years."

"Nor do I need to recall for you which former governor of Illinois all too recently wanted to stop testing our weapons of strength and defense," Stratton said in another dig at his predecessor, who called during the 1956 presidential campaign for a halt to H-bomb tests.

Eisenhower to End Vacation Thursday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U.P.)—President Eisenhower planned to devote most of his time today at the Dixie White House to relaxation and a possible round of golf.

He plans to return to Washington Thursday.

Large Delegations Should Be At Meeting With Douglas Thursday

The question has often been brought up: Do enough of the people of this area really care whether or not an effort should be made to boost the sagging economy?

Lots of meetings have been held and hundreds of thousands of words have been spoken the past few years, as our economy has sagged. But little has been done. A few try to carry the ball. Many stand back and criticize. Most are apathetic.

And a lot of those who are really trying are confused: What is the answer? That is what they are asking.

Thursday at 10 a. m. U. S. Senator Paul Douglas will be at the court house in Harrisburg to take up area problems with whoever is there to bring them up. It is not a political meeting.

The thing is: Delegations that would overflow the court room should be present from Saline and Gallatin counties, and from other counties in the area.

The Saline Valley Development association, organized recently to try to do something about economic conditions in Saline and Gallatin, and the Shawnee Hills Recreation association, organized a year and a half ago to promote the tourist industry in southeastern Illinois, will have delegations present. They have organized the material they will present.

Tuesday night in Harrisburg the executive committee and the board of governors of the SVDA from Saline and Gallatin counties met and had a fine meeting in preparing their program. Equality was represented 100 per cent.

We're getting a reputation in other places of being too apathetic around here regarding working hard to get industry. Let's get back on the ball Thursday.

UN Expands Commission

Russia Seeks to Force U. S. Into Summit Parley on Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS (U.P.)—The Soviet Union is seeking to force the United States into a "summit" conference on disarmament, western diplomatic observers said today.

They said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov made this clear when he announced Tuesday that Russia would boycott future meetings of the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

Kuznetsov said Russia "will not be here in January" when the commission is expected to resume its talks in line with an overwhelming mandate from the 82-member General Assembly.

The Assembly, by a 60-9 vote with 11 abstentions, agreed late Tuesday to expand the present commission to 25 members by adding Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Burma, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, India, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia.

It also voted down, 46-9 with 24 abstentions, a Soviet proposal for a commission comprising all 82 U. N. members.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said Russia "cannot successfully disregard this massive expression of world opinion."

But the Russians said they would do just that and western diplomats said it would cost them dearly in world prestige.

Kuznetsov said the Soviets would not participate in the commission unless its membership were evened by the inclusion of Soviet supporters and "neutrals" on one side and western backers on the other.

Webb Discusses Ag Research at Kiwanis Meeting

Farm research at the University of Illinois Experimental station at Dixon Springs was explained to members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple by Robert Webb, director of the station.

The experimental station, he said, was established about 20 years ago to show southern Illinois farmers how eroded land may be rehabilitated and adapted to good farming practices and increased food production.

He showed slides of the research projects at the station, in building bare and eroded land into good pastures and the cattle and sheep which are the cash crops from the improved fields.

Other practices at the Dixon Springs station were shown and explained by Mr. Webb, who stated the station has about 4,000 visitors each year of groups interested in seeing the farming practices there.

Mr. Webb was introduced by Bob Rushing, who also introduced Tom Morgan, Saline County Soil Conservation District farm planner, who was a guest of the club. Mr. Morgan pointed out that agriculture is the top industry in Saline county with an annual production of about seven million dollars. This is nearly double that of the mining industry which was estimated at four million dollars.

Rupert Bing was inducted into the Kiwanis club at last night's meeting by Loy Barger, past lieutenant governor.

Also guests at last night's meeting were Duke Jones of Newnan, Ga., speaker for the First Christian church revival, who was a guest of the Rev. Glen Daugherty, and Eddie Quade and Roger Wiley, members of the HTHS Key club.

Primary Set for Jan. 14, General Election March 11

Action Urged by Representatives Of Civic Groups

The city council Tuesday afternoon voted to hold a special election to fill the commissioner vacancy which was created when Don Williams was removed through quo warranto proceedings.

The vote, unanimous, followed a long discussion between Mayor Claud Gibbons and three representatives who came to the meeting to seek the election.

The primary election was set for Jan. 14, the general election March 11. These dates were fixed after City Attorney George B. Lee said that the primary must be set seven weeks before the general election, that candidates must file their petitions and statements of candidacy not more than 50 or not less than 35 days before the primary.

Deadline to Appear Post

If no more than two persons file for the post, he said, it would not be necessary to go through with the primary. If more than two file, the primary will nominate two for the general election.

The election must be conducted just like any other city election, with voting in all the city's polls, Atty. Lee added.

The vote was taken after Atty. Lee said it was his own opinion and the unofficial opinion of the attorney-general's office that the council has passed the deadline to appoint a member to fill the vacancy, that the only way now to name a member legally is through a special election.

Law provides, he said, that the council may call a special election if the council fails to agree on a commissioner within 30 days after the office is declared vacant. It was pointed out that the court rendered its decision Sept. 11 removing Williams from office because he moved outside the city limits, that 30 days he had for an appeal brought about the vacancy around Oct. 9. That made it several days past the deadline for the council to pick Williams' successor.

Present at Meeting

Present to ask for a special election were Dick Parker, representing the Harrisburg Businessmen's association; Guy Price, representing the Trades Assembly; and Robert S. Davenport, representing the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Gibbons stated the request would be placed on file and would be disposed of in proper channels, but after some other items of business were disposed of, the three

Winkleman Receives Acknowledgement to Letter of Protest

Ewell Winkleman, president of the Saline Valley Development association, said Gov. Stratton had written him stating that Herrin was chosen for a new area personal office in southern Illinois after a scientific study was made and that city was found best suited.

Winkleman wired the governor on Nov. 1 in behalf of the association asking that the Saline-Gallatin area be considered for its location.

Winkleman said he had received no reply; so on Nov. 15, after Herrin was announced as the city chosen, he sent another wire protesting "the apparent indifference the state shows toward our area."

On Nov. 18, he said, he received the acknowledgement and the explanation from the governor's office.

Open House Saturday by Eldorado Manufacturing Company; New Building Recently Completed

The Eldorado Manufacturing Company, equipped to do a complete job of repairing valves for diesel engines, will have an open house Saturday from 1 to 5 p. m.

In about a year the Eldorado Manufacturing Company has advanced from an idea to a well established, nationally recognized concern.

During the summer of 1956 Kenneth Douglas, a native of Michigan, and Vern Boudreau of Kankakee, came to Eldorado with a proposition to form a corporation and go into the business of diesel valve repair.

Various Eldorado business interests investigated the financial aspects and decided they were definitely interested.

Last December permission was granted to incorporate and stock was offered for sale. Necessary money was raised in a short time.

A temporary headquarters was found, machinery purchased, tooling moved to the building on East Dewey street in Eldorado, set up, sales operations were started and contracts received. "We were on the move in what I considered near record time," Mr. Douglas declared recently.

New Building Completed

As soon as the weather was considered settled for construction, work on a new building on Route 45, just south of the intersection of Routes 45 and 142 was begun. A fine, modern 60 by 100 foot structure was completed recently and the machinery has been moved and operations are now in full swing.

Mr. Douglas, president of the company, has 33 years' experience, including several in a supervisory capacity, in machine work. Mr. Boudreau is sales manager and works with agents in several states.

The company repairs valves that have been in use and pulled out for replacement.

When received at the Eldorado Manufacturing Company all valves are cleaned inspected for seri-

Our Changed World

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Since Oct. 4, when the Russians launched their first man-made satellite, we in the United States have been living in a changed world.

The changes are of two kinds,
and they interlock.
One is strategic. The nuclear statelet between the Soviet Union and the West no longer prevails. Russia's demonstrated advances in long-range missiles give it an edge in the world power struggle, despite our many continuing superiorities.

The second is political. Whatever the true material and military balance between the United States and Russia, much of the world today believes not only that we have lost our critical margin of supremacy but that we may be driven to the limit ever to maintain it consistently again.

On the strategic level, our course is simple but extraordinarily difficult. We must catch and pass the Russians in the field of the decisive weapons. Until we do we are not safe.

In the political realm our task is immensely more complex. For even if we achieve our strategic goals, we can have no assurance that the world will look to us again for leadership in the great quests of peace and justice.

Russia's scientific triumphs, whether transitory or not, have planted new and deeper fears in the hearts of millions in free lands—neutral, uncommitted, even some allied with us.

These fears, of death by radiations, of annihilation by the colossal force of nuclear power, are understandable. We all have them.

We cannot hope to eradicate these perfectly human tremors.
Men like to live, and we are unlikely to persuade any of them that the prospect of unnatural death is a good thing.

But all who cherish liberty know there is something worse than such a death. That is the death in life which bears the name tyranny.

Somewhere we must win millions more of the world's troubled peoples to a realization of that cardinal fact. To accomplish this, we must labor as we never have be-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Justice Frankfurter, Uninvited
To White House Dinner; Frankfurter, Who Came Here From Vienna 63 Years Ago, Is 75
Years Old; Big Brothers Combat Increased Juvenile Crime.

WASHINGTON. — Justice Felix Frankfurter, born in Vienna and brought to the United States 63 years ago, was three quarters of a century old last week. In those years, he, an immigrant boy, had climbed to the highest court in the land.

His fellow Supreme Court justices, some of whom don't always enthusiastically over his voluble ex-postulations from the bench, gave Felix a dinner in honor of his 75th birthday. It was considerably different from another dinner which Frankfurter himself gave on the same night Queen Elizabeth was entertained by Eisenhower in state at the White House.

Frankfurter, a great admirer and defender of the British, was not invited to the White House.
The White House guests included executives of Coca Cola, Seagrams Whiskey, The Young and Rubicam
Advertising Agency, The Cluett
Peabody Shirts Company, a director of Republic Steel, and the other big campaign contributors.

But Justice Frankfurter, though
not invited to the White House, was not to be outdone. He sent out formal dinner invitations to four close friends, including Donald Hiss, brother of Alger Hiss.
Ominously, the invitations read:
"White tie mandatory."

Obviously, guests arrived in white ties and formal tails. Greet-fore to give the world the true measure of freedom as we have known it—and the true gauge of tyrannical communism as the Soviet Union and its enslaved or deluded followers practice it.

ing them, Justice Frankfurter said:
"I see you are in full splendor.
But I can cut one notch higher than you on this thing."
He pointed to his midnight blue tail coat and 'the red lapels that had been specially attached for the occasion.

"I'm quite a whiz when I go in for pomp and circumstance," joked the Supreme Court justice.

The guests went in for dinner.
The first course was luxurious cream of almond soup. One of the ladies tittered. Cream of almond soup was also being served to Queen Elizabeth at the White House.

Second course was filet of sole.
This time two ladies tittered.
Third course was roast duckling —exactly what the Queen of England was eating at the White House.

The fourth course turned out to be Nesselrode pudding, again duplicating the "White House" menu.

Frankfurter confessed that he was an avid reader of the women's pages, had clipped the White House menu, gone personally to the Library of Congress to consult a high-brow British cookbook for one of the recipes.

"We can enjoy their food, but they can't have our conversation," he said. "Just think what wonderful talk the other people are missing."

BIG BROTHERS OF AMERICA

It's no secret that juvenile crime has shot up in the United States for eight consecutive years.
Since 1948 there's been a 70 per cent increase in the number of appearances before juvenile courts, despite the fact that the population increase of juveniles between 10 and 17 was only 16 per cent.

Last year was the worst. Police arrests of juveniles went up 17 per cent and court appearances shot up 20 per cent.

The District of Columbia, capital of the United States and supposed to be a model city, is no model when it comes to juvenile crime. Its court cases have doubled in the past six years, which is above the national average.

Washington ev. let its Big Brothers organization lapse last year for lack of funds, and for this and other reasons there were 1,645 juvenile delinquency cases filed last year—a record. Today the District of Columbia is reviving Big Brothers, an organization operating in many other cities, to give youngsters guidance when they are on the verge of crime or just need friendly advice.

The basic problem leading to delinquency is insecurity — a youngster's feeling that he's not wanted by his family or the community. Every human being has a fundamental desire to belong.

When there is desertion by a parent, or separation or divorce, the youngster may be headed for trouble.

However, kids tend to pattern themselves after their elders. If he has a friendly adviser, such as a Big Brother assigned to spend weekends with him by the Big Brother organization, he tends to follow the example of that Big Brother.

Big Brothers of America have been doing a wonderful job in various cities, helping boys who are fatherless, who come from broken homes, who may be socially maladjusted, or may be paroled to a Big Brother by the courts rather than sending him to a reformatory.

"No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy," say the Big Brothers. According to J. Edgar Hoover, they are doing a great job.

Dinner Meeting By Volunteer Class

The Volunteer class of Union Chapel Cumberland Presbyterian church met Friday evening in the church basement. This was a dinner meeting and the menu consisted of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, creamed peas, combination salad, hot rolls and pumpkin pie. The tables were beautifully decorated in keeping with Thanksgiving with each table having a cornucopia for a centerpiece. Mrs. Cliff Winders, Mrs. Paul Drott and Mrs. James Allen planned the dinner and prepared the turkey. Mrs. Drott also baked a cake in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Vola Sittig. The Rev. Vola Sittig opened the meeting with prayer.

The devotion for the evening was given by Reginald Riegel, and he chose the scripture—"If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed . . . nothing shall be impossible unto you." Matthew 17:20. The president, Kenneth Allen, then turned the meeting over to the recreation committee.

Mrs. Earl Clark, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Walter Ross requesting the chapter's approval to grant $5,000 to be taken from the International Endowment Fund to aid in National Cystic Fibrosis research. The members of the chapter voted their approval.

Mrs. Clark read an announcement of the births of a daughter, Nancy, to Mrs. Clayton Slack and a daughter to Mrs. James F. Moore.

XXXIII

Brown wanted the search for him discontinued and the roads cleared. As in the firing of the summer cottage in which Dennert's body was burned to a crisp, there was cunning and direction in his procedure. The blazing house would create the diversion that he needed, that he had to have. Everyone would rush to one spot and the town would empty itself; it had a volunteer fire department and men automatically left whatever they were doing to respond to an alarm. The moment the fire whistle blew, cutting across the dull moan of the foghorn, tools were downed and cars began to roll.

Up the road Florrie Brown slept on under the sedative the doctor had given her earlier. The officer stationed at the Brown cottage didn't absolutely leave his post; he might just as well have done so. He went out into the road in front and watched the excitement from there. Brown slipped into the cottage from the rear and got what he wanted — which was money. When Florrie discovered the roll of bills in her husband's pocket the night before she had demanded, and taken, four twenties. The bills were gone from her purse. Brown also ate, ravenously and fast, and changed his clothes. He still lacked wings to his heels—but not for long.

When the worst of the fire in the stone house was over, Johnny Murchner, one of the firemen, couldn't find his car. Even there things were in Brown's favor. Trying to locate it in the murk and confusion took time. Young Murchner had not only left the key in the ignition, but he had left his coat neatly folded over the back of the seat, and his wallet, with his driving license and registration in it, was in his coat pocket. Brown had, of course deliberately selected Murchner's car, after examining a number of others. A new name, a safe car, new clothes, another identity, and money; from Cornwall it was an hour and a half to the bridge and the mainland. Brown had had over two hours. Carney's call reached the Scots-

Evangelist-Artist Assists in Revival At Big Ridge Church

Rev. Paul M. Morrison

The Rev. Paul M. Morrison, evangelist - artist, is assisting George W. Bain, pastor of Big Ridge Baptist church, 4 miles east of Harrisburg, in a revival which will continue through Nov. 29.

Services are held daily at 7 p. m. beginning with a song service, led by Jim Cox. An invitation is extended to the public to attend and a special invitation is extended to the people of Big Ridge community to come and hear the preached word, beautifully illustrated by the evangelist-artist.

man at a little after eight that evening. A five-state alarm for Brown was already out. McKee was unusually disturbed by Carney's news. He said narrowly, out of a long pause, "Brown's got to be found, Lieutenant."

The search was intensive, it went on all night; when McKee arrived in Cornwall early the next morning Brown was still at large. So was Miss Dolwin. The FBI agent was at the Coe and Bradford laboratory and wanted to see the inspector. McKee said "I'll see him later," and after a short conference with Carney, he went down to talk to Sarah Casement and to have a look at the stone house. A trooper drove him. He went in to the house alone.

Only the region around the chimney and the hearth remained relatively untouched. There the fire had met solid stone and brick. Like most houses of the period this one was built around a great central chimney. The Scotsman stepped across a gaping hole in the floor boards. Below, the semicircular brick cellar was half full of dark water with bits of debris and a chair back floating on it.

McKee reached the hearth. Standing on it, and facing what had once been a charming room, he thought about Bob Brown. There was no possible doubt of Brown's guilt where selling out strategically important information for money went; how to decisively put the finger on him—or on anyone at all for that matter—for two murders was something else again. Dennert was the key. Mr. Witness—Dennert had been wiped out because he knew the killer.

McKee sent his thoughts back

Waterflood Project To Increase Life of Frankfort Oil Field

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (UP)—Engineers expect to harvest another million barrels of oil through a waterflood project in the 130-acre oil flood unit here.

M. H. Guess, manager of the Shell Oil Company's Illinois production division at Centralia, said the field was discovered in December, 1942, and has produced 863,000 barrels since then.

The waterflood project will extend the life of the field an estimated 12 to 15 years, Shell engineers said. The field includes 40 acres within the corporate limits of West Frankfort and other land on the Mike Drumsta Circle D Ranch.

Water will be injected into the field by six wells and six other wells will produce the oil.

In getting ready for the waterflood project, Shell has constructed roadways, filled in low spots in a swampy area along the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad tracks and drilled three additional wells for the water pattern.

The oil reservoir being flooded is the Tar Springs Sandstone at a depth of 2,042 feet.

to Dennert, to the man himself and what he had done step by step, his arrival in Provincetown by air, his journey here by bus and on foot. His journey here—

When Dennert boarded the bus in Provincetown on the morning of his arrival on the Cape he had told the driver to let him off at Rand Road in Cornwall. He didn't wait to reach Rand Road, he got off the bus a quarter of a mile to the north. The conclusion was obvious. After he had boarded the bus, while he was on it, Dennert had seen something that disturbed him and upset his plans. Yes, Dennert had seen something.

Had Dennert used the time-honored expedient? The threat of a letter left with someone, posted to someone? "It won't do you any good to kill me because you won't get away with it. I've taken care of that angle." The perpetrator either didn't believe Dennert or thought he had the power of circumventing him.

But if Dennert had left a piece of tangible evidence here in the stone house the evidence was gone. It was for this evidence that the house had been entered on the night before last. The search had failed so the house was destroyed by fire. It was a thorough job. Practically nothing was left. Only the mantel remained, a solid oak plank four inches thick; fire had merely charred at the ends. A wild tangle of broken mirrors, picture glass, metal, burned wood; the little doll that had stood in the middle of the mantel had partially escaped. It lay in the fireplace, arms extended, the naked torso

Pineau Confers With Stevenson

WASHINGTON (UP) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau conferred with Adlai E. Stevenson today amid strong indications that strained U. S.-French relations are rapidly improving.

One big stumbling block—U. S. arms shipments to Tunisia—appeared to have been reduced substantially with word from official quarters that the United States has no immediate intention of sending any more guns to the newly independent country.

Stevenson, Democratic Party leader and the State Department's special NATO adviser, met with Pineau at the French embassy—presumably to discuss the forthcoming "summit" meeting in Paris to strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

Pineau and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles touched on the issue Tuesday in their wide-ranging conference on Anglo-French affairs.

Call Special Election To Fill Council Vacancy

insisted something be done at yesterday's meeting. A couple of recesses were called, first for a discussion on a law and second for Atty. Lee to call for an opinion.

Mayor Gibbons insisted the matter be held up and the three persisted in action, stating the council had tried for two months to name a successor to Williams and couldn't, that now it was too late.

Mayor Gibbons said it was not compulsory for the council to fill the vacancy, that it could go along with only three commissioners although, he said, he believed the vacancy should be filled.

Guy Price asked the three commissioners how they felt about the situation.

Commissioner Charles R. Hine said he felt the council should have four commissioners and a mayor and that he desired an election.

Commissioner Sneed Jordan said that if the deadline for the council to pick the man himself had past, he was for an election.

Commissioner Morris Darnell said he believed an election would be proper.

Robert Davenport then asked if he could make a request as a citizen of Harrisburg for one of the commissioners to make a motion that a special election be held and was told by Gibbons he was out of order.

However, later Gibbons said he would entertain a motion and Commissioner Hine made the motion that the council call the election and it was seconded by Commissioner Jordan.

"I wanted to get with the council again and talk with the people before we made a decision," said Mayor Gibbons.

When roll call was taken on the proposition, however, Mayor Gibbons joined the three commissioners in voting to call the election.

The Saline Valley Development association committee which went to Benton today to discuss possible canalization of the Saline river with U. S. Senator Paul Douglas will give a report at 9:45 tonight on WSIL-TV.

Hodgin Resigns As Guard Chief

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Hodgin, Peoria, commander of the Illinois National Guard's 33rd Infantry Division, will retire Dec. 1 after 42 years of military service, Gov. Stratton's office said today.

Hodgin's service included Mexican border service in 1916, and World Wars I and II and the Korean War.

Stratton announced that Brig. Gen. John F. Homfeld, Urbana, assistant division commander, has been promoted to the rank of major general and will take over Dec. 1 as division commander.

Col. Herbert W. Carnwright, Chicago, commanding officer of the 202nd Anti-Aircraft Artillery Group has been promoted to brigadier general and will succeed Homfeld as assistant division commander.

Lt. Col. Robert E. Moore, Chicago, has been promoted to colonel and will succeed Carnwright.

Coal Mine Blast In Scotland Kills 17 Miners

MURKIRK, Scotland (UP) — An explosion ripped through a coal mine near here Tuesday night, killing 17 miners. The rest of the 300-man force scrambled to safety through falling rock, fumes and heavy dust.

Rescue crews which worked through the night recovered the bodies of 15 miners trapped 1,000 feet underground by the blast. Two other miners brought to the surface died of their injuries today in a hospital.

The explosion occurred in the Kames Colliery, one of the oldest working mines in western Scotland. The sound of the blast echoed throughout the adjoining countryside and brought hundreds of men and women to the pit head. It was Britain's worst mine disaster since 1951 when 81 miners were killed in an explosion at Eastington.

Contractor Claims Lydon Asked Bids on Work for Hodge Office

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — A Springfield contractor testified today that William D. Lydon asked him in June, 1956, to prepare a bid on some remodeling work for Orville E. Hodge's statehouse office and date the bids back to November, 1955.

Contractor E. R. Jones said Lydon told him he wanted the bids prepared "just to keep the records straight."

William Mehl, a former employee of Hodge in both his insurance agency and state auditor's office, testified that he was called to the office of Hodge's office manager, Edward A. Epping, in late May or early June of 1956 and that Lydon was present.

Mehl said Epping had on his desk some stationery of the contracting firm of Elmer J. Bretz. Mehl said Epping "directed" him to prepare on the stationery some invoices that would "square with" state vouchers drawn in Bretz' name.

The vouchers, Mehl said, added up to $248.72, which is the amount of phony state checks allegedly issued by Hodge in Bretz' name and cashed by Hodge.

Royalton Pledges To Build Office To Get Doctor

ROYALTON, Ill. (UP) — Townspeople here voted Monday night to build a modern brick and stone office in hopes they can find a doctor to put in it.

The town of 1,500 people has been without a doctor since last month when a veteran medical man who had served them more than 50 years died.

Pledge cards will be distributed to raise the $6,200 for building materials. Craftsmen voted to donate their labor in the construction.

Mike Akulow, a mail carrier, was named president of the Royalton Development Assn. which was formed Monday night. It will be incorporated as a non-profit community betterment enterprise and its first goal is to find a doctor.

Queen Elizabeth, Philip Observe 10th Anniversary

LONDON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip observed their 10th wedding anniversary today and enjoyed the luxury of staying home for a change.

The royal couple, usually on a hectic whirl of social, civic or diplomatic functions, reserved today just for themselves and possibly the family and a few friends.

There was no pre-arranged reception, no official salutes or flag-flying. Just a day at home in Buckingham Palace.

Palace sources said Princess Margaret and the Queen Mother might join the royal couple and Princess Anne for a family dinner party.

Prince Charles, away at Cheam Boarding School, was not brought home for the occasion.

Detroit Gets Billy Martin in 13-Player Deal

DETROIT (UP) — Billy Martin, a scrappy infielder who boasts the New York Yankees never lost a pennant while he was in their lineup, was obtained by the Detroit Tigers today in a 13-player trade with the Kansas City Athletics.

The 29-year-old Martin moved to the Tigers along with outfielders Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas, pitchers Tom Morgan and Mickey McDermott and catcher Tim Thompson.

Detroit gave up outfielders Bill Tuttle and Jim Small, catcher Frank House, and pitchers Duke Maas and John Tsitouris in the swap.

The Tigers will send two minor league players to the Athletics at a later date to complete what Detroit officials termed "one of the biggest trades in our history."

Martin, a fiery native of San Francisco who was with the Yankees for five years before his exit last summer after an alleged night club brawl in New York, was the key player in the trade from Detroit's point of view.

He is expected to take over the shortstop job for the Tigers and pave the way for Harvey Kuenn to move to right field or first base.

Salukis to Close Grid Season At Great Lakes

Southern Seeks Best Football Record Since 1947

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Seeking its best grid record since 1947, Southern Illinois University's football team closes its season at Great Lakes Naval Training Station this Saturday afternoon.

With many second and third-stringers getting into the act, Southern ended its home season last Saturday with a 45-19 victory over Northern Illinois before a Parents' Day crowd of more than 4,000.

Carver Shannon, Corinth, Miss., junior who was SIU and Interstate Conference most valuable player last year, picked up two touchdowns and added two extra points Saturday to run his season point total to 50. Shannon, who scored on a 74-yard punt return and a 20-yard run around end, now leads SIU in rushing and total offense with 474 yards (net) in 79 carries—an average of six yards a try.

Also scoring twice for Southern Saturday was Don Miller, 150-pound third-string halfback from Cairo, who tallied on a 20-yard pass from Dave Wheeler, Chicago, and a four-yard run around end.

3-3 Loop Record
John Abramovitch, 218-pound Saluki center from Haverhill, Mass., intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards through about half of Northern's team in one of the most sensational plays of the game. Also scoring touchdowns for Southern were quarterbacks Bill Norwood, Centralia, and Dennis P. Holmes, Maplewood, Mo.

The win gave Southern a 3-3 conference record and a tie for fourth with Illinois Normal. League winner was Eastern Michigan (6-0), while Central Michigan tied with Western Illinois (4-2) for second.

Southern, now 4-4 for the season, will wind up with its best football record since the 1947 championship team if it can add Great Lakes to its victim string this week.

Great Lakes, featuring many former college players, has been unpredictable this season in building up a fair record. The Sailors lost to Bradley University (team which has lost only one game) by one touchdown early in the season.

Kawal Pleased
SIU Coach Kawal said he was well-pleased with the showing of his team Saturday. Southern's tackling, blocking, and running were good, with pass defense being about the only real weakness. Even in that department, SIU intercepted three Northern aerials. Probable starters against Great Lakes will be the same as in the Northern Illinois tilt: Marion Rushing, Pinckneyville, and Richard Nelson, Wheaton, ends; Houston Antwine, Memphis, Tenn., and Richard Carpenter, Centralia, tackles; Jim Lynch, Benton, and Willie Brown, Memphis, Tenn., guards; Abramovitch, center; Norwood, quarterback; Ranette Lewis, East St. Louis, and Shannon, halfbacks; and Paul Restivo, Herrin, fullback.

Final Interstate Conference standings:
Team W L
Eastern Mich. 6 0
Central Mich. 4 2
Western Ill. 4 2
Southern Ill. 3 3
Illinois Normal 3 3
Northern Illinois 1 5
Eastern Illinois 0 6

Ridgway Tops GEC With Three Victories; Pope, Equality Win

Ridgway continues to top the Greater Egyptian conference standings, with three victories in as many starts.

Two GEC games were played Tuesday with Ridgway winning over Cave-in-Rock 76-62 and Pope County entering the win column for the first time by taking a 64-48 decision from Shawneetown.

In a non-conference game Equality won from Crab Orchard 75-54.

Ridgway continued to play a good defensive brand of ball and show balanced showing with three players getting in double figures.

Ernie Clifford, who made 18 points for the night, kept Ridgway in front during the first part of the game with five fielders in the opening period. Roger Suttner, top pointmaker with 28, scored heavily in the last frame. Don Sanders hit the double figure mark with six baskets and a free throw.

King paced Pope County to a GEC victory over Shawneetown by swishing the nets for 32 points.

Shawneetown, hampered by the continued absence of Jim Brazier, 6-4 sophomore, fell off the pace in the second quarter and trailed 28-18 at half time. During the first quarter the teams played all even, with the score reading 10-all after one period of action.

Awalt, with 13 points, was high scorer for Shawneetown.

Equality, showing terrific scoring power in the last half, overpowered Crab Orchard 75-54.

The teams were even at 7-7 after the first quarter and Equality held a slim 22-21 halftime lead. Then the Gallatin county crew broke the game wide open with a big

Bynums Well Pleased With Purchase of Car in France--Deluxe (Without Luxury)

(Editor's Note: James H. Bynum, native of Stonefort and former HTHS teacher, is teaching English and journalism in the Army dependent high school at Rochefort, France, and will write his impressions of the area from time to time.)

We have a new car—French style!

It is an Aronde 1300, manufactured by Simca, Inc., in Paris. Its body lines are reminiscent of American styles of 2-5 years ago.

The manufacturer claims the number of places (seating capacity) is five, and we have piled as many as four adults and four children in ours at once. Actually, carrying only four adults at a time is comfortable; a load of three is preferred. For our family of three the size of the car is satisfactory.

Though having only a four cylinder engine, the car is speedy and quick on pick-up. The French horsepower rating is seven; the American rating is 48. By American standards the Aronde is lightweight, short, and rough riding. However, on returning from a 400-mile round trip to Limoges in it, we were at least as rested as after the same length trip in an American car.

Good Gas Mileage

That same trip to Limoges required less than 40 liters of gas (called l'essence here). A liter is slightly more than an American quart, liquid. The gas mileage—important in a country where gas costs 75¢-1.00 per gallon—is very good: 38 MPG.

The Aronde has several features which would seem strange to an American.

On the left of the steering column, in the position usually occupied by our directional signal lever, is a light switch. It has seven different positions and operates the parking lamps on either side (required by law), the dim and bright beams, town lamps for city driving, and signal lights when approaching cross streets.

Just below the horn button on the steering column is a cluster of switches which operate directional signal blinkers, windshield wipers, and country tones for the horn.

Well Pleased with Purchase

The Aronde has four forward speeds, ranging from very low to a high gear which approximates overdrive. The mileage indicator is divided into two parts: one part indicates the total miles traveled by the car and the other may be set to show the distance traveled on a particular trip. A built-in jack support adjacent to each wheel completes the unusual features.

Our car is the Deluxe model—in France deluxe means WITHOUT LUXURY—and it sells for $1095, the lowest price of any Simca product. Prices range up to $2200 for the Aronde Ocean, the two place sports model with stepped-up horsepower.

In comparison with American cars, the Aronde is much smaller, less comfortable, not so well constructed nor equipped, has not the American smoothness and beauty of design; but it is fast, cheap to buy, and economical to operate and maintain.

We are very well pleased with our voiture de France.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Do you always sleep on your right side, on your left side or on your back? If you try to switch sides, are you restless? Do your habits project themselves into every phase of your life—subconsciously as well as consciously.

Many people become slaves of certain habits which are unhealthy to their well being. They convince themselves that nothing less than a "catastrophe" can ever change their way of living. Some folks do not want to make alterations in their set ways. They rebel against change.

Yet progress requires change. Behavior must constantly change. Attitudes must be influenced. Skills must be developed. The greatest teacher and changer of behavior, skills and attitudes is the Supreme Being. He made us and He gives us satisfaction when we make spiritual progress. We must constantly grow in faith and in love of our fellow men.

Check on Education

CHICAGO—(UP)—The University of Chicago, which claims it was the first university in the country to conduct off-campus evening classes for credit toward a college degree, is going to take a look at how it has been doing in the adult education area. The Fund for Adult Education has given $160,000 to the school to make the study on the program it started in 1898.
